THE KU-CHENG DEADLOCK BROKEN AND MORE EXECUTIONS PROMISED.

A SPEEDY TRIAL TO BE GIVEN THE REMAINING PRISONERS THE IMPLICATED SZE-CHUEN OFFICIALS ALSO TO BE TRIED-ALL ASCRIBED TO A BRITISH

Hong-Kong, Oct. 15 .- Advices from Ku-Cheng state that the deadlock which has existed in connection with the Commission of Inquiry into the outrages upon the foreign missions is ended. British Consul Mansfield has had an with the Viceroy at Fo-Kien, with the result that the latter agreed that eighteen more of the men accused of murdering the naries shall be executed and that saining prisoners shall be speedily tried by the commission, which shall have the power to impose the death penulty. This solution of the difficulty is ascribed to an ultimatum which, it is reported, was sent to the Viceroy by Ad-Buller, commanding the British fleet of whose vessels are now at Foo-Chow.

Washington, Oct. 15 .- The Secretary of State has received a belated telegram from Minister Denby, dated Peking, Oct. 11, which reads substantially as follows:

Seventeen criminals will be executed at Ku-Cheng. The Yamen (Board of Foreign Affairs) agrees that all leaders shall be executed, all participants sentenced (to imprisonment) and all implicated tried. The commision of inquiry will probably be adjourned. An imperial decree has been issued, referring the implicated Sze-Chuen officials to a board for punishment.

The information presented in Mr. Denby's dis patch gives great satisfaction to the State Department as it shows that the efforts which the rernment and that of Great Britain han making to secure redress for the Ku-Che been making to secure Fedress for the Ku-Cheng and Cheng-Tu massacres have been successful. A commission consisting of American and British officials has been investigating the mas-sacre at Ku-Cheng, where ten British subjects sacre at Ku-Cheng, where ten British subjects were killed and one American. Miss Mabel Hartford, of Dover, N. H., wounded. The riots which resulted in the wholesale murders occurred in August last and both Great Britain and the United States took prompt measures for investigation and redress. The Sze-Chuen officials mentioned in the Denby cable dispatch as having been referred to a Board for punishment are accused by American and British missionaries of being responsible for the riots at Cheng-Tu accused by American and British missionaries of being responsible for the riots at Cheng-Tu and its vicinity. These riots occurred in June and were much more extensive than those at Ku-Cheng. The Vicercy of the Province of Szechuen was said to be directly responsible for them, and he was bitterly assailed in letters sent to the State Department by missionaries for refusing to furnish them protection, while mobs were sacking their houses.

FRESH OUTRAGES IMMINENT IN CHINA PART OF THE ARMY WILL PROBABLY BE DIS BANDED-REVOLT OF THE MAHOMETANS STILL UNSUPPRESSED-TESTIMONY OF THE KU-CHENG INQUIRY.

Tokio, Sept. 26, via San Francisco, Oct. 15.-Ugly rumors are in circulation in China as to the prob ibility of fresh anti-foreign outrages. In Han-Kow inder instructions from the Central Govern and the disbanding of seven-tenths soldiers that proved themselves such a worthless during the recent war. If these steps be taken the situation will be complicated by the presa multitude of needy malcontents ready for any form of outrage and disorder. The Mahometan rebellion still continues to defy persons implicated in the Ku-Cheng massacres was a most revolting yet childish order. The Vege tarians profess to be nothing more than an antitarians profess to be nothing more than an antiopium society. Several of the prisoners said that they had entered its ranks for the sake of getting cured of the opium vice. Their induence over the executive authorities and the magistrates is tremendous. The chief instigator of the massacres seems to have been a man known as "Long Finger Nails," a professional fortuneteller. His motives are a mystery, but the evidence shows that he went among the Vegetarians telling fortunes, and that he made a point of warning them that they must choose between killing the foreigners or being put to death by them. At one time, it is said, that this alernative was presented to the Vegetarians: They must either destroy their own magistrates and burn the town or slaughter the foreigners. They chose the latter.

NO BRITISH TROOPS IN BRAZIL. THAT AN ARMED FORCE IS ON THE WAY TO

VENEZUELA DISCREDITED BY THE FOREIGN OFFICE AND SIR JULIAN PAUNCEFOTE. London, Oct. 15.-Inquiries at the Foreign Office to-day concerning the truth of a report published in the United States that a force of British troops was marching through Brazilian territory en route to Venezuela elicited the reply that the story is undoubtedly a canard. The Foreign officials declare that they know nothing about such a movement and do not believe that there is the slightes foundation for the report. Washington, Oct. 15.-The report that an armed British force is marching through Brazilian terrivery, having for its objective point "that part of Venezuela claimed by the British Government," attracted no little attention to-day in diplomatic cir-cles. The strained relations between Venezuela and Her Majesty's Government growing out of the boundary dispute and the possibility that Congress may take some action next winter looking to the interference by the United States in this matter lent an additional interest to the statement which, however, could not be verified either at the Vene-zuelan or Brazilian legations or at the British Em-bassy.

It is not regarded as likely that Great Britain would deliberately march her troops through Brazilian territory without at least the permission of the Brazilian Government, and so far as can be learned, no such permission has either been asked or granted.

If it be true that British troops learned, no such permission has either been asked or granted.

If it be true that British troops are marching along the northern boundary of Brazil, the line of their route is through a territory between Brazil and British Guiana which has long been in dispute between the two countries, and which it was decided by treaty many years ago should be regarded as neutral ground. And yet it is regarded as doubtful in diplomatic circles if Great Britain could send an armed force through even this territory, as it is understood that such an act would be in violation of treaty stipulations.

At the British Embassy Sir Julian Pauncefote, the Ambassador, was outspoken. He discredited the report and denied even the probability of its correctness.

The latter was reported as having been slain, and color was given to this impression by her disappearance from Seoul for three years. The Customs Department of the colony is demoralized. THE RUMANIAN CABINET OUT THE KING ACCEPTS THE RESIGNATIONS OF THE CATARGI-CARP MINISTERS.

Bucharest, Oct. 15.-The King of Rumania has accepted the resignation of the entire Cabinet, and has summoned the leader of the National Liberal party to form a new Ministry.

The resignation of the Catargi-Carp Cabinet may be attributed to the want of cohesion between its members and the discontent of the people at the influence exercised over the Ministry by the Triple While the Premier, Mr. Catargi, was Alliance. The latter was supported in him upor the Premier, and who is himself a strong Germanophile, like all princes belonging to at Ischl to the Emperor of Austria had co the Rumanian people in the belief, generally enter-tained in Europe, that their country had been made, through positive understanding, and perhaps by a secret written arrangement, a tender to the Dreibund. The latter, in case of a war with Russia, would receive invaluable assistance from a Rumanian army, which would prevent, or at least greatly delay, the direct march of the Russians upon Austro-Hungary.

On the other hand, the Rumanians, who are sains upon Austro-Hungary.

On the other hand, the Rumanians, who are sometimes called "the French of the Orient," complain of the financial and commercial monopoly wielded in their country by the Germans, who impoverish it for their own benefit. A Bucharest statesman said lately: "We are indebted to Germany for more than 1,000,000 francs. Suppose that we could not pay the interest for one year or two, Germany could send us collectors, in the name of her citizens, our creditors, and Rumania would become another Egypt."

Rumanians cannot forget that there are 2,000,000 of their nationality who are oppressed in Transylvania by the Austro-Hungarian Government, as was shown again this year by State trials at Klausenburg and Hermannstadt, and the sending to prison of Dr. Lucanin and other partiots of Rumanian origin. They have just been pardoned and liberated, but that act of clemency could not make the Rumanians the friends of the Triple Alliance, one member of which keeps in semi-bondage their "unredeemed" brethren of the Transylvania.

Under these circumstances, King Karl I has been driven to make an appeal to the patriotic party of the National Liberals, and to accept the resignation of a Cabinet n which the supporters of a pro-German and pro-Austrian policy were in constant wrangling with their colleagues, who were anxious to free their country from foreign dictation.

The Duke, in reply to a question about the report that he had been ejected from a Louisville theatre said:

That was unjust and unkind. I did not go on stage and was not put off. I knew nothing about that until I saw it in the papers. The report was false, and it had nothing to do with my return. I simply came back because there were many details in connection with my marriage that I had to close up. The wedding is to be on November 6, you know, and I thought it best that I should be here now. Accordingly, I left the party and returned. Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and her daughter, Miss Consuelo, are at the Hotel Savoy. The Duke will probably remain in this city until the wedding takes place. He said that he had chosen his cousin, Iver Churchill Guest as his best man, but that he had not selected his ushers as yet. Many of the details, he said, were left to Mrs. Vanderbilt.

over the majority of the infant heirs, contrary to the provisions of law. This final accounting is intended to dissolve the trust and cause the estate

Ex-Judge Truax, for the executor, contended that the trust was entirely valid, in that it accumulated the interest only until the majority of the daughter, and that the residue was to be paid over at the ALEXANDER RICE'S WIDOW DISSATISFIED. Boston, Oct. 15.-The will of ex-Governor Alexander Rice was filed in the Suffolk Probate Office on August 6, but no attempt to have it allowed has been made, and it is understood that there may be a contest over its provisions, which are said to be unsatisfactory to the widow. The will was made in February, 1884, and under it Mrs. Rice is to get $10,000 outright, while $20,000 is given to trustees to hold for her henefit until Arthur Stanley Rice, the testator's minor son, becomes twenty-five years old, when the principal sum is to be paid to him. The rest of the estate is given in trust for the two daughters and son of the testator.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 15 .- The will of the late Con gressman Hezekiah B. The value of the estate is $200,000. Mr. Smith provided in his will for the establishment of a school for apprentices and young mechanics, to be conducted at smithville, in connection with the H. B. Smith Machine Company. The Chancellor held that the will did not sufficiently disclose the character of the proposed school or the amount of the expenditures to be made for its maintenance, and that the contention that the trustees could fulfil the trust from verbal instructions given during the lifetime of the testator was unsound in law. The case is to be appealed.

CONGRESSMAN SMITH'S WILL BROKEN.

ATTEMPT TO REMOVE THREE EXECUTORS. Application was made to Surrogate Abbott, in Brooklyn, by S. G. Adams, as counsel, for the re moval of Charles S., William and Robert Osborn, as executors under the will of their mother. The ground alleged was the insolvency of the executors. The estate, which consists principally of property in Willoughby-ave., Brooklyn, is valued at nearly $100,000. Charles S. Osborn, one of the executors named in the complaint, was lately involved in a lawsuit which attracted considerable attention. Last year, Mr. Adams said, Charles S. Osborn, who was a member of an old wholesale wine firm in New-York, was found to be heavily indebted to the firm, and made an assignment of his interest to cover his indebtedness. On May 30 the firm made an assignment, and receivers were appointed. Mr. Adams contended, on behalf of his client, John Osborn, a grandson of a direct heir, that it was no longer proper for the sons to handle the mother's estate.

Roger A. Pryor appeared for the executors, who, he said, were willing to account, and for whose removal, he said, there was absolutely no warrant. The Surrogate said the code required the financial condition of the executors to be shown to be precarious before the Court could remove them. He reserved decision.

Easton, Penn., Oct. 15.-The ninth business ses-sion of the General Council of the Evangelica Lutheran Church of North America was held this morning. The Sunday-school plan was taken up. the suggestions of the Rev. Mr. Schmauk, of Lebanon, being the point for consideration. After nearly an hour's debate the report was adopted, pro viding that the Board of Publication, acting on the advice of the Sunday-school Committee, thorized to publish or secure a fit series of pictures illustrating Old and New Testament history, and also, in chart form, the Ten Commandments, the Apostles' Creed and Lord's Prayer, for use in Sunday-schools; also a set of Sunday-school apparatus o be ready for use by Advent, 1896.

The committee on the nomination of an editorial staff for the Church paper presented its report. It provided for an editor-in-chief at a salary not less than $500; and a managing alltor, with a salary not less than $1,500, and named the following: Editor-in-chief, the Rev. Dr. W. E. Jacobs, of Philadelphia; managing editor, the Rev. G. W. Sandt, of Wilkesbarre; staff correspondents, the Dr. M. H. Richardson, Allentown; the Rev. W. A. Parsaivant, Pittsburg; Professor C. Foss, Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill.; the Rev. C. H. Gerbaraing, Chicago; the Rev. F. A. Kaehler, Buffalo. The latter half of the report was considered first and adopted, thus electing the editors and staff. It was voted that the Editorial committee shall not begin operations until at least $19,000 has been guaranteed for use in publishing the paper.

The Rev. Mr. Wagner, of Decatur, Ill., submitted the report of the Committee on Minutes of the Dis-trict Synods. A variety of unimportant unfinished business from last year's session then came up, after which the council adjourned until 2 p. m.

The tenth and last session was held this afternoon. Dr. H. E. Jacobs, of Philadelphia, offered four resolutions, all of which were passed. They were: That February 16, 1897, being the quarto-cen tenary of the birth of Philip Melanchthon, we request that the day be celebrated with appropriate exercises commemorative of his gifts and services in all the colleges and theological seminaries connected with the General Council. 2. That no original motion affecting the doctrinal sttton of the Council be entertained until the succeeding session after it is moved, nor until it be first printed and placed in the hands of the delegutes That the Executive Committee meet the day before the next meeting of the Council to arrange the business of the session, and the credentials of all the delegates shall be presented to this committee. 4. That the second morning of the meeting of the Council be given up to the discussion of the fundamental principles of the faith of the Council.

The Rev. M. C. Horine, of Reading, offered a reso lution tendering the thanks of the General Council

The Rev. M. C. Horine, of the dealing, offered a resolution tendering the thanks of the General Council to the pastors and congregations of Easton for the hospitable entertainment given to it.

The only matter demanding the attention of the trustees of the Council since the last convention was the examination of the securities in the hands of the treasurer, which were found to be the same as those reported two years ago. The Rev. J. A. Seiss, W. H. Stake and J. A. Geissenhainer were re-elected trustees to serve for two years, and Drs. A. Spaeth, C. F. Krotel and S. Laird were re-elected for four years. It was decided that the Editorial Committee be discharged and that a German and an English editor be appointed, to have charge of Church publications. The Church Book Committee, in conjunction with the Publication Board was empowered to print a new edition of the small German Church Book. The place of the next meeting of the Council will be fixed by the officers. The Church Book Committee selected is as follows: The Revs. C. W. Sheaffer, F. F. Beremeyer, J. F. Ohl, T. E. Schmauk and G. S. F. Haas, and Drs. A. Spaeth, J. E. Seiss, S. Laird and H. E. Jacobs.

The General Council adjourned sine die at 5 o'clock.

ADDRESSES BY PRESIDENT ODELL, EX-GOVER-NOR MERRIAM, OF MINNESOTA, AND

WILLIAM H. RHAWN

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 15 .- The American Bankers' Association, holding its twenty-first annual session, met in the Grand Opera House this morning at 19 o'clock. The auditorium was filled with the members of the association, while the Executive Council occupied seats on the stage. who accompanied the delegates occupied the boxes,

At 10.30 o'clock the president, John P. Odell, Chicago, formally opened the convention, and prayer was offered by the Rev. E. H. Barnett, of the First Presbyterian Church of this city. Mayor King, in welcoming the association, spoke of Atlanta's appreciation of the honor conferred on her by the selection of this city as the place for the nvention. On account of the illness of Governor ers to Georgia, Mayor King also performed the G. Gunby Jordan, president of the Bankers' Association, welcomed the association on behalf of the Georgia association.

PRESIDENT ODELL'S ADDRESS.

President Odell then delivered his annual address in part as follows:

A year ago, at your convention in Baltimore, a plan for the reformation of our National currency system was adopted, and while the recommendations of the association did not meet with universal approval, the action of the convention gave rise to a most extensive agitation of the currency question both in and out of Congress, and a great deal of valuable discussion followed. The effort of perfect currency system were never more apparent of our present system were never more apparent than to-day.

During the period since we last met together our country has passed through an experience that will not soon be forgotten. Following a season of universal haudation and distress, the country was confronted by a National Treasury forced almost to the very edge of bankruptcy, and was saved from this only by the heroic and patriotic action of a wise and courageous President. For weeks uncertainty and confusion prevailed, and were not allayed until by the sale of large amounts of bonds the Government recovered its gold reserve. That this expedient offered but temporary relief we have had ample evidence, and the signs are not wanting to indicate that we have yet more trouble in store, unless we shall depart entirely from the present makeshift and pernicious system of governmental note Issues. With a scientific momentary system, based upon a stand a scientific moment of the most and the regarded the indorsement of the most approach to the signs of the most and the standard of the most approach to the most approach to the signs with the interest of the most approach to the signs are not the signs with a scientific moment of the most approach to the signs are not the signs with the interest of the most approach to the signs are not wanting to indicate the signs are not wanting to sign and the signs are not wanting to sign and the signs are not wanting to sign and the sign and the sign are not wanting to sign and the s pernicious system of governmental note issues. With a scientific monetary system, based upon a standard which has received the indorsement of the most civilized nations, we may feel assured that the intelligent and energetic people of the United States will develop and utilize to an extent beyond the dreams of the wildest visionary the marvellous resources which Nature has with such generosity bestowed upon us, until at last we shall take our true place among the nations of the earth, the foremost in material prosperity and moral worth, which will be manifested in the advancement of our arts and sciences and in the daily life of our people. To-day, were it not for our uncertain currency system, we might well congratulate ourselves upon the condition of affairs.

The next half-hour was devoted to routine business, several reports being read and adopted.

WHAT EX-GOVERNOR MERRIAM SAID. Ex-Governor William R. Merriam, president of the Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul, Minn., de-livered an address on "The Currency of the Twentieth Century." speaking in part as follows: I think it can be assumed that in the future we are to have some kind of a paper currency, based upon the credit of the institution emitting it. The problem then before us is to evolve a plan that will, first of all, be adapted to the conditions which surround us, and one that will be likely to meet with the approval of the law-making power. It must be remembered that there exists in many parts of the country an unreasonable prejudice against banks in general, and National banks in particular, and the Legislature will look askance at any scheme. id the Legislature will look askance at any and the Legislature will look askance at any scheme for currency reform that grants too many privileges to banks. So, in considering any system for furnishing currency, this fact must be borne in mind. Any new banking plan providing for circulating notes must be National in its character. The very condition of the trade of the country would seem to demand this. The great lines of transportation East and West, North and South, have bound us so closely, and trade between the States is so enormous, that to attempt to use State bank currency would simply dog the channels, put an extra charge upon commerce, and produce the greatest confusion. I do not believe we shall put an extra the greatest confusion. I do not beneve the greatest confusion. I do not beneve the return to State issues of currency.

The conditions absolutely essential to the further ance of any proposal for the issuance of a paper money are: First—It must be safe and properly semoney are: First—It must be redeemable in gold of it. money are: First—It must be safe and properly se-cured. Second—It must be redeemable in gold or its equivalent, either at the place of issuance or at the great financial centres of the country. Third—It should circulate at par in all parts of the United States. Fourth—It should be sufficiently elastic in its character to accommodate itself to the varying con-ditions of trade going forth from the business cen-tres during the active movements, when the products of the soil are being transported from their sources of supply to the markets of the world, and returning in a natural way, and retting when

He then outlined a system by which 40 per cent the stock of National banks should be invested in United States notes to remain with the Treas urer, and currency to the amount of the remaining 60 per cent be issued; each bank to contribute a per cent of its capital as a safety fund in the Treas-urer's hands. At the close of Mr. Merriam's address Mr. St.

John, of New-York City, asked for the privilege of replying to his arguments. This was granted, and Mr. St. John will speak in behalf of free coinage on Thursday. REMARKS OF W. H. RHAWN.

William H. Rhawn, president of the National Bank of the Republic, Philadelphia, read a paper on the "Utilization of Lawful Money Reserves Through Bank Clearing Houses in Relieving Money Stringencies and Preventing Panics." He said in part:

Throughout all this increasing stringency, finally running into panic and disaster, the banks have been struggling to comply with the law by holding on to their reserves as far as possible for them to do so, a condition that fully warrants Mr. Carlisle in his strictures upon "a reserve that cannot be utilized even at a time of the greatest stringency and distrust." but does not seem to justify his remedy of repealing the law requiring the reserve, and thus leaving each bank to the prudence of its officers as to the amount of reserve it may keep. It is believed that a better way is to retain the law requiring fixed reserves, with such amendment as will permit their utilization in emergencies to an extent that would check stringencies and arrest panics in their incipiency. Four times in the history of the National banking system resort has been had to the issue of clearing-house certificates during monetary stringency and panic, and in each case with the effect of reilef and restoring confidence. The emergencies are becoming more frequent, and the Issue of these certificates is not provided for by law.

My chief object in this paper is not to suggest any change in the law relating to banknet circulation, but to demonstrate the wisdom of such amendment as will authorize and permit a fuller and freer use of Bank Clearing Houses in Relieving Money Strin-

My chief object in this paper is not to suggest any change in the law relating to banknote circulation, but to demonstrate the wisdom of such amendment as will authorize and permit a fuller and freer use of the entire mass of currency held by the banks as exigencies may from time to time demand, that we may thus better guard against violent and protracted stringencies and panies.
